

ABSTRACT

This invention provides an implant that enable satisfactory bone/cartilage regeneration by allowing sustained release of virus vectors carrying the transcription factor gene in vivo and persistent maintenance of transcription factor activity.